

An accessible English programme

CATs is a unique multi-level English language learning and testing programme. Each level has a test and accompanying preparation materials. The programme is inclusive, affordable, achievable and world class. Anyone can develop English language skills for work, and for life.

Inclusive

Anyone can follow a CATs programme. The materials make it possible for learners of all ages to develop their English skills. They are suitable for absolute beginners or those with some experience of learning English.

Affordable

Learners study online or offline on a wide range of devices (mobiles, tablets, iPads, Chromebooks, PCs/Macs). Computer-based tests are quick and easy to administer. This approach makes testing large numbers of learners simple and affordable.

CATs values

Achievable

Traditional language testing levels have been broken down into smaller, more achievable steps. The flexible, self-study approach suits different learners. Progress is measured in small, achievable steps that keep learners motivated to reach their goals.

World class

CATs has been developed in the city of Cambridge by leading experts in teaching and testing. The CATs team develops quality materials for educational organisations worldwide. The tests are quality assured to the Common European Framework of Reference (CEFR) for languages.

How can CATs help you?

As English skills in a population improve, so does a country's economic performance. CATs is a simple and affordable way to improve a nation's English skills. It can deliver English language study to large numbers of learners in different places. All tests meet international standards for language learning and testing.

Real-world skills

A complete package

Achievable goals

People can improve their employment possibilities and earning potential by developing English skills. CATs complements existing school language programmes, helps adults learn English for the workplace, and helps parents to support their children's language learning. The flexible programme lets learners take small, achievable steps towards their learning goals.

English is a key skill for international business. The flexibility and achievability of CATs helps employers develop English language skills in their workforce. This helps organisations take advantage of new business opportunities and compete in the global economy.
